A NEWFOUNDLAND PILGRIMAGE
ON THE TRAIL OF THE CARIBOU

The years 2014-2018 mark the 100th anniversaries of the First World War. We must never forget the tremendous contributions and horrendous sacrifices that so many Newfoundlander and Labradorians made to that cause. Fighting in the uniforms of both the Navy and the Army, in the Merchant Marine and the Forestry Corps, our brave forebears never hesitated to stand in harm’s way to protect our homes, our families and our values. While many of them paid the supreme sacrifice, many more came home wounded in body and/or mind. We must also never forget the suffering at home of a generation for whom the effects of that war would be felt for the rest of their lives. The pastoral guidance was provided by many Newfoundland Padres who served the Royal Newfoundland Regiment, including Padre Tom Nangle who went on to become Newfoundland’s representative on the Imperial War Graves Commission. His vision brought the “Trail of the Caribou” to reality, and is the touchstone for many of those who wish to stand “where once they stood.”

Knowing that many of those brave soldiers were members of our Newfoundland Churches, we have vowed to mark this important anniversary by a spiritual pilgrimage, to the battlefields of Europe in the summer of 2016. You are invited to consider this journey as we visit both the battlefields where our people fought in World War I and the cemeteries in which they lay. In June-July 2016, many groups from Newfoundland and Labrador will travel to France and Belgium and will converge at Beaumont Hamel on July 1 at which time wreaths will be laid in the remembrance ceremony. Following this memorial, we are planning a very special private event for members of all of our groups, organized by Craig Travel to mark this centennial event.

We urge you to register your interest in joining us on this unique journey. Multiple departures have been organized to depart from St John’s between June 23 and 28, 2016. Arrangements can also be made from cities across Canada or if you prefer you can confirm the journey based on land only. All departures will include all sites mentioned and will visit the five Caribou Memorials located in Europe. The order of visits will depend on the departure date and will vary.

This pilgrimage of remembrance for our brave forebears will only come once. All group space is expected to sell out. If you wish to join us book now before it is too late.
In the early hours of July 1, 1916 the 179th Tunnelling Company finished their work of tunnelling underneath the German positions and let off the largest mine ever used in the war to date. The massive explosion was to start the battle of the Somme and left what is known today as the Lochnagar Crater. After visiting the crater we shall tour the site of the Beaumont Hamel battle and the Caribou Memorial which commemorates the Regiments’ sacrifice during WWI.

July 1, Friday

Beaumont Hamel Centennial

Of all the battles the Royal Newfoundland Regiment fought during World War I none was so defining and devastating as the Battle of the Somme. It was on July 1, 1916, the first day of this battle at Beaumont Hamel where the Regiment made their greatest sacrifices. On that day these volunteers from a land far away showed extreme bravery and honour as they fought and died to protect homes and values. On command they advanced from their positions and negotiated the mud and barbed wire, while a hail of bullets and shells fired from the superior German positions. They marched to what is known as “danger tree” the furthest they would go that day, losing 85% of their ranks as they went. On July 1, 2016 we shall attend the centennial ceremony at Beaumont Hamel, to celebrate the bravery and optimism the Royal Newfoundland Regiment showed not only at the Somme, but throughout the war and since. There will be time to reflect on the great sacrifices made by our Newfoundlanders and their hopes for peace and happiness.

July 2, Saturday

Sailly-Saillisel Cemetery / Masnieres

We make our way to the Royal British Cemetery of Sailly-Saillisel in which we shall find the graves of a number of fallen Newfoundlanders before making our way to Masnieres. Here we visit the Newfoundland Memorial Caribou which commemorates the actions of the Regiment during the First Battle of Cambrai in 1917 when the regiment helped break through the heavily fortified Hindenburg Line en route to the village of Cambrai.

July 3, Sunday

Courtrai / Ypres

We cross into Belgium to follow the caribou to where the Battles of Ypres and Courtrai were fought during the “Last Hundred Days” of the war. At the Battle of Ypres the Regiment saw some of the greatest successes, taking larger areas of enemy territory with the loss of a comparably small number of troops. A few weeks later they reached Courtrai where they helped push back the Germans in order to capture the strategic Lys River railway crossing. We shall travel to visit the Newfoundland Memorial Caribou in Courtrai. Later, we arrive in Ypres to see Essex Farm Cemetery where Lt. Col. John McRae wrote the immortal poem – ‘In Flanders Field’ and we will visit the Museum and Cloth Hall. In the evening, we attend the Ceremony of the Last Post at the Menin Gate where the Newfoundland Church Lads Brigade will perform.

July 4, Monday

Lille / Paris

Enjoy a day in the French capital. Our local guide will introduce us to the sights and sounds of Paris, including the Arc de Triomphe, the Champs Elysees and ascent up the Eiffel Tower to the 2nd level for a stunning view of the city.

July 5, Tuesday

Depart Paris / Arrive Canada

This morning we transfer back to Paris for our flight(s) back to Canada.
