On the Lookout for the Big Five on Safari

East Africa, renowned as the premier destination for game viewing, boasts the world's most extensive national parks and game reserves, including Sweetwaters, the Masai Mara, and the Serengeti. This region is home to the Great Migration, the last major migratory herds of wildebeest and zebra that annually traverse between the Masai Mara and the Serengeti. Our journey allows ample time in the Mara during the peak period, providing the opportunity to witness the largest herds in the pristine wilderness. With its expansive plains, majestic mountains, and breathtaking scenery, it's no surprise that visitors consistently describe the region's beauty as unforgettable.

For bird enthusiasts, East Africa offers the highest concentration of bird varieties globally. Each day of our adventure unfolds with new and captivating vistas. Experience the rolling grasslands of the Masai Mara and the Serengeti Plains, the rugged peaks of Mount Kenya and Mt. Kilimanjaro, the distinctive landscapes of the Ngorongoro Crater, and the bushlands teeming with diverse game and bird life.
